Description

The individual lashing point can be mounted on a Sortimo van racking system and thereby opens a multitude of further lashing possibilities in your loading space.

When mounted on the inner side of two uprights of the van racking system then a ProSafe lashing belt enables load securing of the parts lying behind. . It can be screwed to an upright in any position as an individual lashing point. The ProSafe individual lashing point can also be used for the securing of gas bottles on the side wall of the van racking system. The maximum resilience of the individual lashing point is 200 daN. The assembly material is not included in delivery. .
